

TRAYVON B.
MARTIN
HIS LAST VISIT TO SANFORD

LEOPOLD PRYCE

DEDICATION

His death was not in vain, it was not a lost cause; it has brought life back to a people who were dead to the facts that black people do not get treated equally under the law. There is great revival breaking forth that black lives matter.

There is a great awakening right across America and the world they have now seen the light...love is greater than hate and peace transcends the boundaries of war.

Your name will not soon be forgotten: Trayvon B. Martin; rest awhile.

Thanks to all of you who have contributed to this book: you took time out of your busy schedules to look at my work and made corrections. Without your encouragements and your constant asking: ‘what happened to your book...man? I would not be able to move forward with it; thanks again.

TRAYVON B. MARTIN HIS LAST VISIT TO SANFORD

Heinous, Tragic, and heart breaking are just a few of the words one can use to describe the Trayvon Martin saga. Where to begin honestly, it is hard to tell, what to make of the situation; was it just a matter of racism or just plain lets make on example of this out- of- place black boy walking through a community which I am protecting, The accused, George may have considered but on the surface, he did not show any racist behavior towards blacks, according to his family and friends.

Over the course of this trial; many people have voiced their opinions on all the possible scenarios of what police reports have said took place that night.

Everyone was dumb-founded when they learned details of Florida's STAND-YOUR- GROUND LAW which basically says: if you are a licensed gun owner, you can legally shoot to kill the other person whom you might think is a threat to you. What is most frightening is, one does not have to see a weapon on the other person to pull the trigger. The only report you need to relay to the authorities is that you were in fear of you life, and that is enough to get you complete protection against any criminal charges.

What many were beginning to understand is that there was no single factor that one could point to as a motivator in the death of this young man, there are multiple factors like: racism, the STAND YOUR GROUND LAW, rage, anger,(on both sides), distrust, etc. Based on the facts that are public knowledge; many people have said that they are willing to say that George is solely responsible for his actions against Trayvon, on that cold February night. We know that he was the one who pulled the trigger, he did confessed to that but
